

DIGGS IS FOUND GUILTY IN WHITE SLAVERY CASE

No Attempt Made to Deny Evidence, But Claim Mann Act Not Violated.

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—In closing with Marsha Warrington from Sacramento, Cal., to Reno, Neb., Maury I. Diggs, former state architect of California, was found guilty of violating the Mann act, which makes it a felony to transport women for immoral purposes from one state to another. This was the verdict tonight of the jury that tried him. Five years in the federal penitentiary is the maximum penalty. There were six counts in the indictment and the jury found a verdict of guilty on the first four. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years and a minimum of one year in a federal penitentiary.

The case went to the jury with no attempt by the defense to prove that Diggs did not transport Marsha Warrington across the state line from Sacramento, Cal., to Reno, Nevada, or that they did not live there for three days as husband and wife.

These facts, it was admitted, had been committed, but they did not constitute a violation of the Mann white slave traffic act because they had not been done with criminal intent. The trip to Reno had been half an accident. If Diggs and Marsha Warrington, with P. Drew Caminetti and Lola Norris, their companions, had not missed an earlier train they would have remained within the state, and though their offense against morality would have been the same, they would not have transgressed the federal statute.

"This defendant," asserted the government prosecutor, "did not deny on the stand the truth of the essential facts we have shown here. He had to admit them all. The defendant in a criminal case usually relies on the presumption of his innocence, but this defendant relies on his own depravity and licentiousness."

In seeking to establish that the trip was not premeditated and that the two girls had not been induced to take it by threats of scandal on one hand

HINTS PEOPLE NOT BEHIND WILSON

Huerta Intimates that Congress Opposes President's Stand, and that He is Entitled to Recognition

Washington, August 20.—Intimations are contained in Provisional President Huerta's reply to the American note presented by John Lind that President Wilson is not backed up by Congress or the American people in his stand against recognition of the Huerta government.

Referring to the attacks on the Washington administration by members of congress and pointing to the official recommendations of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, advising recognition Henry Lane Wilson declares he is entitled to be recognized. He holds that the Democratic party is in power temporarily, and argues that that the recognition of his government is a partisan question in the United States. He intimates that he reaches his conclusions on private advice from Washington.

This information was obtained tonight from those who know the contents of the Huerta note so far as it has been deciphered. The complete note is not yet at hand but the principal argument has been placed before administration officials.

AUTOMOBILE CRASHED INTO TELEGRAPH POLE

An automobile owned and driven by Harry N. Bullard crashed into a telegraph pole on Pleasant street Wednesday evening, wrecking the machine and injuring the three occupants of the automobile.

If the car with Bullard were Edward Rutledge, and Lyman Scott, and when the collision came they were all thrown out and still landed on his head. He was unconscious when picked up and he was taken to the Portsmouth Hospital where he was attended by Dr. H. L. Taylor. He has a slight commotion of the brain, but is expected to leave the hospital today.

Bullard was cut over the right eye and somewhat bruised, while Rutledge escaped with a cut finger.

The automobile was badly wrecked, the front wheels were carried away, the mudguards smashed, the radiator damaged and the windshield shattered. It was later hauled to the repair shop of Edwards, Diekey and Hoyt.

The accident happened in front of the Wendell house and Bullard claims that he was blinded by the lights of a passing automobile and the car swung on him, and crashed into the pole.

OFFICERS GIVE CHASE TO YOUNG THIEVES

House of William Carr of Kittery Ransacked on Wednesday.

Another house robbery took place at Kittery on Wednesday afternoon by the same gang of young crooks that entered the Carr residence on Lafayette road on Tuesday night. The Kittery job was the home of William T. Carr on the Post road. The family were at the beach for the day and the break was not known until their arrival home shortly after 5 o'clock. The crooks evidently used a glass cutter as a clean cut was made on the rear window where they gained entrance by removing the catch.

As soon as the robbery was discovered the police of this city were notified and the description of a gang of six seen in the vicinity of Kittery Crossing satisfied the local officers that it was the much wanted gang. Officers Ducker and Kelley went over in an auto and were joined by officer Leach of Elliot who had also been notified of the break. The police, after a run through the woods at Elliot learned that the gang had just crossed the river in a boat to the Portsmouth side near the rendering plant. They had called at the home of a man named Manson and put up a pistol story that a boat which they had, got lost from the shore, and Manson took them across the stream. Manson had just got back when the officers reached his place and he again crossed the river with the police but it was too late. Not a person could be found that had seen the thieves and they completely disappeared in the woods.

They remained under cover all dark and late on Wednesday night were again seen on the railroad track between this city and Greenland and may have jumped a freight later from one of the stations between here and Newburyport. At the Carr house they carried away jewelry, clothing, razors, and money amounting to the value of $25. Up to date none of the articles missed in the Carr home have been offered for sale at any of the pawn shops.

FIGHT TO EVADE DEPORTATION

Believed Thaw Will be Taken to Island Pond and Handed Over to American Authorities by Tonight

Sherbrooke, Que., August 20.—Harry K. Thaw will be across the American border in the state of Vermont by tomorrow night if tomorrow's events in the case of the fugitive from Matteawan shape themselves, as Canadian officials in close touch with the proceedings anticipate.

This was the semi-official intimation here late tonight as Thaw awaits a hearing on the habeas corpus writ his counsel secured today. It is not denied that official opinion inclines to the belief that the habeas corpus proceedings will result in Thaw being declared a free man. What will follow the plans of the immigration authorities indicate, but with a kindness of Inspector Reynolds and Williams of Ottawa.

These two officials immediately Thaw is released by the court it is understood will take him into custody as an undesirable under the immigration act and rush the fugitive to Quebec. At the immigration office the formal deportation proceedings will be conducted in the form of an official inquiry in the manner of Thaw's entrance into the country, which debars him from remaining in Canada. These formalities ended he will be taken on board a Grand Trunk train and conveyed to the border, where Messrs Reynolds and Williams will hand him over to the American authorities.

The point of deportation indicated will be Island Pond, Vt., the nearest border station of the Grand Trunk, about 20 miles south of Quebec.

The through ticket to Detroit on which Thaw is understood, hopes to evade the immigration authorities

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING ON WEDNESDAY

Clinton L. Trueman Takes Beatrice Mary Goddard As His Bride.

At Christ church on Wednesday at 11 o'clock occurred the wedding of Miss Beatrice Mary Goddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hooper, and Clinton Lawrence Trueman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton M. Trueman, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles LeV. Brins and the party was attended by Mr. Paul Flux as best man and Miss Mildred Mudgett as bridesmaid. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. John Hooper.

The bride's dress was a rich creation of white China silk, chiffon overdress trimmed with satin folds and bands of self material, caught with clusters of rosebuds, and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, over forty relatives and friends assembled at the home of the groom's parents on Middle road, where an informal reception was held, followed by a dainty wedding breakfast, consisting of salads, sandwiches, ice cream, cake, crackers, punch and coffee.

And a shower of rice and confetti the newly wedded couple left on the afternoon train for the White Mountains, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Trueman was very prettily attired in her chic navy blue messaline going-away gown, with white chip hat trimmed with white satin ribbon and pink roses.

The gifts were numerous and choice, including cut glass, fancy china, linen and silver. Also included among the gifts were a chest of silver and silver service set from the employees of the Portsmouth Brewing Company; checks from the office force and from the president of the company; and a silver coffee percolator from the members of Christ church.

The groom's gift to the best man was a gold heart pin with monogram, while the bridesmaid was presented with a sterling silver pendant set with sapphires.

Mr. Trueman is a bookkeeper in the office of the Portsmouth Brewing Company and a graduate of Portsmouth High school, class of 1911, at which institution he made a name for himself in athletics. Both bride and groom are very popular among the young people of this city.

Their many friends extend heartiest congratulations and wish them a long and happy married life.

THE STORE OF QUALITY

WARNER'S Rust-Proof CORSETS

These 75c and 98c Crepe Gowns and Skirts are the best we have ever had. If it is a conservative style, with lace or hamburg trimmed, it is the best quality as the kind we have ever sold at these prices.

Crepe Drawers at 50c | Short Crepe Skirts at 50c

Beautiful Undermislins, such as Princess Slips, Combinations, Corset Covers and Skirts.

One of the most attractive places in the store is where all the pretty, dainty things for babies are shown. The little mites of humanity are usually incentives to great extravagance. Personal pride, vanity and love combine to make ordinarily frugal mothers almost indifferent to cost when buying for the new baby. However, we do not take advantage of that phase of temperamental weakness by exacting large profits for infants' goods.

WOMEN'S KNIT UNDERWEAR—Women appreciate garments that are perfect fitting. We have been a good many years perfecting the styles and shapes of our underwear for women and we have accomplished a great deal, both with foreign and American manufactures. Women who have not previously bought their underwear here will be pleased to discover how much more comfortable they can be than they have been in the past.

BRIC-A-BRAC AND CUT GLASS—Fine Wares at Low Prices—Weddings—presents to give! Nothing is more acceptable than handsome pieces of Bric-a-brac when tastefully chosen with a sense of their fitness. And there is an enduring place for Cut Glass on every well-ordered sideboard. If you are on a vacation or visiting here you surely will want some remembrance to take back home.

ENGINEERS ALARM.

Will Be Given Hereafter When Still Alarms Are Sent In.

In the future when still alarms are sent into the auto chemical or to other stations of the fire department an engineers alarm will be sounded on the fire alarm system. This alarm will be two blows on whistle and bells. By this arrangement the engineers may be summoned to all fires with the same apparatus which responds to the same. The department heads claim that much time and trouble will be saved by the new order.

NAVAL MEN WANT COMMANDING RANK

Washington, August 20.—Legislation under which naval officials may attain commanding rank before they reach the brink of the service age limit was urged before the house naval affairs committee today by Rear Admiral H. H. Howard and Captain A. C. Feghteler. Officers now barely reach the stage when they are assigned to command of battleships or cruisers or force compulsory retirement for age cuts short their active career.

THE BUSINESS SECTION THREATENED WITH BIG FIRE

Store and Stock of M. P. Alkon on Market Street Badly Damaged-- Fire Checked Just in Time.

The store of Myer P. Alkon on Market street, was badly damaged by fire shortly before eleven o'clock Wednesday evening and at one time it looked as though it would be a big loss.

The fire started evidently in a pile of packing cases in the rear of the store off Penhallow street and it broke through the rear window and door into the store, and then spread up through a stairway from the ell into the main building.

The fire was discovered by a number of sailors on Penhallow street, and while one ran and pulled in an alarm from box 51 at the corner of Elm and Market streets, the others got busy and did what they could to check the fire until the arrival of the apparatus. The hose wagon from the Central Station arrived first and laid a line to the front of the building but there were no firemen there to handle the hose. The ladder truck came around into Penhallow street followed by the chemical auto truck, and a line of hose was soon in use and none too soon for the flames were working up through the second story and spreading out through the building.

The damage of the stock is not known by Mr. Alkon until he has more time to look it over but it will be considerable. The loss to the building which is owned by Dr. James R. May will not exceed $500.

HARRY THAW HEARING POSTPONED

Officials at Sherbrooke Taking Their Time and No Date Set.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 21.—The hearing in the case of Harry K. Thaw, which was expected to be held at 10 o'clock this morning, did not take place, being postponed until an indefinite date. Just when the hearing in regard to his return to the United States will be held is now an uncertainty. In the meantime there is an unusually large number of newspaper men here and others interested in the case, and the town officials are not loath to have them leave at present.

NO CONTEST

Hitch in Negotiations for America's Cup Races.

LIPTON DICTATES AGAIN

Bickerings Over Terms of International Contests.

There is a hitch in the negotiations about the conditions to govern the America's cup races next year and it is possible that there will be no race. Several yachtmen high in the councils of the New York Yacht Club are of opinion that the two committees representing the New York and Royal Ulster yacht clubs will fail to agree in that event only one way is left to have a series of races sailed. The deed of trust specifically states that in the event of the challenging club and the club upon which falling to agree on the conditions, rules, courses, etc., the match shall consist of three races, the courses to be forty miles and the yacht race without time allowances.

Some time ago the Royal Ulster Yacht Club cabled to the New York Yacht Club that the conditions had been signed and copies mailed to the challenging club. The conditions have not been agreed upon. Sir Thomas is still bickering and it is the same old trouble. He wants the New York Yacht Club to say that it will meet the challenge of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, which named a vessel 75 feet on the water line. It has appointed a committee to arrange with the challenging club the conditions to govern that race, and it has conceded that the yacht shall be measured according to the present rules of measurement.

According to the deed of gift the challenging club may name any yacht to defend the trophy. It may be larger or smaller than the challenger and it does not have to name that yacht until a few days before the first race. The club plans to defend this time with a yacht about the same size as the challenger. It would be important like to put a big yacht like the defender against a 75-foot water line yacht and no one appreciates that better than the members of the New York Yacht Club. Sir Thomas Lipton has gone out of his way to say in the public that he has always had fair treatment at the hands of the New York Yacht Club and is perfectly content to leave all arrangements to that club.

In spite of statements like this he is now harping on the size of the defender and on this point the two clubs are likely to split. For the New York Yacht Club will not give way one inch on this point.

When Sir Thomas sent his challenge in 1906 he named a small yacht and stipulated that a yacht of similar size should defend the trophy. That challenge was declined because it was not regular. This year he challenged and named a 75-foot water line yacht and again stipulated that the defending yacht should be of the same length. That challenge was declined. Sir Thomas amended it and asked for a reconsideration. He stated his interpretation of the deed which was in effect that, as it would be absurd to put a large yacht against a small yacht, the deed of gift practically ordered that the yacht should be of the same size. He was told that this was only another way of asking for what was declined in the first challenge. Then he changed his challenge and made it regular.

Now he is trying to get this official statement again. He wants the present rules to apply to the cup yacht. This has been conceded. His yacht is to measure 75 feet on the water line, the present rules. It will not rate at 75 feet because of cutting under the top of the class, as yachts do in head regattas, but time allowance will be figured on the difference in size between the two vessels. A 75-footer would rate under the rule about 72.

The limit of the class in which such a yacht would sail is 75 feet rating. Sir Thomas wants the club to agree that the cup yacht shall not exceed the class measurement. He wants to name a yacht of class 75 built up to the top of that of class and meet the defender on even terms. To this the defender will not agree. It will agree to a 75-foot challenger. That yacht may put on all the sail it possibly can and it will be rated according to its measurement under the rule, and it does not matter if that rating is over or under the class limitations.

The New York Yacht Club is ready to go ahead for the defense of the cup, but nothing can be done until the conditions to govern the race are arranged. It has now in the club two defenders arranged for, and these two will be built by Herreshoff. Herreshoff has agreed to build only these two. At first he wanted only one. One yacht, that of the club, is for a syndicate headed by former Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt. The second yacht is for George M. Pynchon and two friends. Herreshoff has drawn plans and these yachts are about 75 feet on the water line. This means that the New York Yacht Club wants to play fair. There will be more defenders than Old, Alex Smith, Cushman, who began yachting with the Avenger and then had the Westward built, with which he won many prizes in Europe, is to buy a boat, but who the designer will be is not known.

One yachtman, talking of this matter last week, said: "I don't think Sir Thomas wants a race. He is satisfied that while Herreshoff is alive he has no chance of success. He has obtained a lot of free advertising out of the talk of a race for which has not paid one cent. If he thought he had a good, fair chance he would be willing to spend his money and try again, but he realizes that this must be his last chance and he will keep this matter going on as long as he can and then withdraw, to resume again some time in the future."

This is also the opinion of many other yachtmen who are prominent in the big class racing and who know of what they are talking.

HINTS PEOPLE NOT 'BEHIND WILSON

And, personal representative of President Wilson and President Hayes are continuing on a cordial personal basis, neither side is receding from the position and alternative measures already are under consideration and most likely to be adopted is one of absolute non-interference. The American government under such a policy would continue to deny arms to both sides, would withdraw Americans from trouble zones, under a proper protection to property and life, and in effect let the Mexicans continue their controversy on the battlefield. The administration is determined

Walter Johnson, Speed King, Sets Season's Record for Straight Wins

Detroit, Mich., August 21.—Walter Johnson, who scored his 12th straight victory for the Washingtons here in the recent series with the Tigers set the season's record for consecutive wins in the American league, Johnson was hopeful of equalling it not far ago. Johnson's record for 19 straight victories made last year in the National league, Johnson has the record and is in his best form this season. Many fans count him the best pitcher in either league having none.

agitated intervention or war, and the other alternative, friendly mediation, has apparently failed. Officials here believe, however, that the United States through the mission of Mr. Lind will have satisfied foreign governments generally of the desire to bring about peace and they do not conceive that there will be any pressure to bring about intervention.

To grant arms to the constitutionalists would, in the opinion of many officials, add to the danger of anarchy in the republic and would be tantamount to a policy of intervention, which they have been bitterly opposed.

Will Keep Hands Off
That the United States would keep hands off was considered more than likely in many quarters here tonight and administration officials pointed to an important precedent for such action during the term of President Hayes when General Porfirio Diaz assumed the reins of government on May 21, 1877, after defeating the forces of President Lerdo. Germany recognized Diaz on May 29 of that year, Switzerland and Guatemala on June 7 and Spain on June 16 there being no other government except the United States represented at Mexico City at that time.

In President Hayes' message in December 1877 he announced that recognition of the Diaz government had been deferred on account of the opposition to him in northern Mexico and Minister John W. Foster was instructed by Secretary Seward to state that the Washington government would wait before recognizing General Diaz as president of Mexico until it shall be assured that his election is approved by the Mexican people and that his administration is possessed of stability to endure an ad disposition to comply with the rules of international comity and the obligations of treaties.

It was not until May, 1878, nearly a year after Diaz came into possession of the de facto government in Mexico City that recognition was extended by the United States. During the interval correspondence was maintained through the legation as at present through the embassy, due attention being called to the necessity of protecting American lives and property.

Will Deliver Recognition
The present administration proposes to defer recognition until a constitutional election shall have been held, and President Wilson stands ready against recognizing the Huerta regime under any circumstances, from these considerations it is not likely that Mr. Lind's informal parties with the Huerta officials will continue long. He will remain in Mexico City indefinitely, however, as the adviser to the American embassy, which is without an ambassador.

He will continue to make reports on the situation to President Wilson and retain so far as possible cordial relations with the de facto government for the purpose of obtaining proper protection to American interests.

ELKS TO PLAY HAYMAKERS HERE ON SATURDAY

The second in the series of championship games between the Elks and the Haymakers of Concord, will be played at the play ground Saturday afternoon, and a much better game than at Concord is looked for. The manager of the Haymakers stated that he was a regular catcher and manager Kelley of the Elks told him to pick a catcher from the Sunset League, and he has taken Thompson who caught here last Saturday for the Concord All Stars.

Another pitcher will be used and the Concord club are quite confident that they will give the Elks a hard battle on their own grounds.

FLYNN IS CONFIDENT.

Thinks He Will Best Sam Langford in Next Tuesday's Bout.

Boston, Aug. 21.—Percy Flynn entertained a vast crowd of fans yesterday at the Whitecap Yacht Club, where he is training. After a series of lively brushes with his sparring partners he took his final plunge in the lagoon until after the bout. Flynn is wonderfully changed since appearing here a few years ago. The trip to Australia helped him, for he has filled out and lost all the boyish characteristics he possessed before going abroad.

He punched the ball, sparred with his partners, tossed the medicine ball about and did considerable running before he retired to his home at the Highlands. This is a monument to Flynn's thrift. The mansion is the finest in Winthrop and it is so situated that he can see what is going on about him for many miles.

Speaking of his chances with Langford next Tuesday night, Flynn said: "I consider them excellent. I know the colored man and every move he will make. I also know that his extra weight isn't going to help him. Langford isn't built to carry a lot of extra flesh. But of some of it will speed him up a little, but from where I sit I can't see anything but a flat-footed opponent in front of me. There is an old story about Langford being able to fight rounds at a furious clip, but his present form will shorten that up. I will give Sam about five rounds to finish that pace now. He isn't getting any faster and I will prove that Tuesday night."

YORK DEFEATS DERRY.

Takes First Game in Series of Three Games.

York Beach on Wednesday defeated Derry A. A. on Railroad field, 7 to 5, in an interesting game. This was the first of a series of three games to be played there. Neither team scored until the third.

In that inning the New Hampshire boys scored one on a base on balls to Sullivan and an error by Morando on Picard's tap. York scored twice in the same inning on a base on balls to Blackbird and a home run by A. McKenna.

The Derry lads shoved another over in the fifth on a hit by Picard and a double by W. Tyler. The visitors went after Blackbird in the sixth scoring three runs on three singles and a sacrifice. This ended the scoring for the losers. York scored one in the fifth on a single by Young and a hit by Morando.

The seventh saw the undoing of Sullivan. Blackbird, the first man up, fanned. Young singled and took second on a passed ball. Morando punched one over the canvas in left for a home run, scoring Young. A McKenna was hit by a pitched ball and scored on Baxter's double to third.

Baxter went to third on the try for McKenna at the plate and scored as C. McKenna squeezed him in. This ended the scoring for the Bench. Baxter and Richards for the York nine played a great game while Bartlett excelled for the visitors. A Tyler, who played third for the Derry team, fell over the third base bag in the eighth hitting his head. He was unconscious for several minutes. The score:

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Portsmouth Citizens

A familiar burden in many homes. The burden of a "bad back."

A lame, a weak or an aching back. Often tells you of kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Portsmouth testimony.

George Myers, 172 Gates St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "My kidneys became disordered some years ago and I suffered severely from pains and lameness in my back. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and at night I was obliged to arise several times. I doctored and tried several remedies, but was unable to find relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's Pharmacy. They brought the most satisfactory results. After I had finished the contents of two boxes, my trouble had disappeared."

Putting Tobacco in Tins is Like "Locking the Stable Door"

--"after the horse is gone." Because when tobacco is chopped into small pieces, much of the flavor evaporates before the tobacco goes into the tin.

There is only one way to keep all the natural fragrance and original flavor in tobacco until it reaches your pipe—and that is the hard-pressed Sickle plug. And the natural leaf wrapper is a better protector than any tin, tinfoil or waxed paper.

You always get a fragrant, slow-burning, cool smoke from Sickle, because you slice it off the plug as you use it. You get more tobacco, because there's no package to pay for. There's no tobacco wasted—and the last pinch is as fresh and sweet as the first. Smoke Sickle today—all good dealers sell it.

MEXICO WILLING TO HEAR MORE FROM EX-GOV. LIND

Mexico City, Aug. 20.—Further negotiations looking to a peaceful settlement of the Mexican problem, following provisional President Huerta's rejection of President Wilson's proposals as submitted by his personal representative, John Lind, would appear now to depend upon Washington. If the United States Government is willing to reopen the controversy there is every reason to believe that the Mexican Government would be willing. Frederico Gamboa, the Mexican Foreign Minister, said in a statement issued last night that the negotiations between Mr. Lind and the Mexican Government had not been entirely broken off but that they were being continued confidentially. This communication was made to representatives of the Mexican newspapers for local publication this morning. It was the first news given to the public through the local press regarding the international dispute since Monday morning.

Despite Minister Gamboa's statement, however, it is known here that Mexico's reply to the United States, while couched in diplomatic language, it was a definite rejection of President Wilson's proposals as presented by Mr. Lind. Unless the Washington Government sees fit to submit new negotiations, then, on its part, the negotiations, it is considered here, will be closed. What a Mexican government may do appears largely a psychological problem.

The statements made by Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, the Mexican Minister of the Interior, on Monday night and subsequently officially denied both by Minister Gamboa and Nelson O'Shanaghnessy, the American charge d'affaires, that the United States government had been given until midnight of Tuesday last to recognize the Huerta administration, is taken to indicate the attitude of at least a portion of the Mexican Government, but the conservative element appears to have won the upper hand. This element is the one which is showing a tendency to continue friendly relations with Mr. Lind and it is even reported, an good authority that overtures already have been made to reopen the negotiations.

Today ex-Governor Lind is awaiting instructions from Washington. He is still optimistic and believes there is more than a possibility that the Mexican Government may yet elect to entertain the peace proposals rather than the alternative. Regarding the character of any notes exchanged between the two governments, Senator Gamboa and all the other Government officials refuse to enter into any discussion. Yesterday the Mexican government sent to each of the foreign legations in Mexico City a note stating that the negotiations with ex-Governor Lind were continuing in a cordial manner and denying that Minister Urrutia had made any statement which might be regarded as an ultimatum to the United States. That the personal relations between President Wilson's emissary and the Government here are friendly is indicated by Mr. Lind's sending to the Mexican Foreign Office a message of condolence on account of the loss of life in the explosion at Tacubaya, a suburb of the capital, yesterday, when nearly one hundred persons were killed and fifty others were injured.

A MUSICAL HIT

The international musical comedy de luxe, "The Pink Lady," will be at the Portsmouth Theatre Monday evening Aug. 26th.

This is the only engagement of the biggest musical hit of the decade in this vicinity. That it will be appreciated is already evidenced by the small orders.

"The Pink Lady" comes here with an established reputation and it is promised that it will live up to every expectation. The piece after a brief try-out on tour was originally presented in New York about a year and a half ago and ran at the New Amsterdam Theatre there for 400 performances without a break, and later was presented at the Globe Theatre, London, where our foreign cousins' enthusiasm was marked.

Its record speaks a wonderful vogue for "The Pink Lady" and when you see it the reasons are apparent. It is the happiest combination of book and music yet devised for stage entertainment of the light opera sort and to this has been added a production which for breadth, class and harmony is a standard work within its happy limitations.

The book and lyrics are by C. M. S. McLellan, who adapted them from the French farce, "Le Satyre" by Georges Feytaud and Marcel Guillemard. Ivan Caryll composed the accompanying score. In this he reached the acme of popularity with his tuneful and catchy "My Beautiful Lady" which has served to establish the fame of the piece, but in all there are eighteen other numbers and each is a delight of its kind.

"Kiss Me Quick" the new force by Philip Bartholomae, now running at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, will be the opening attraction at William A. Ingham's British hit "Cinderella."

* THEATRICAL TOPICS *

"The Lure" A Positively Overwhelming Hit.

"The Lure," the first dramatic offering of the season in a Shubert New York theatre, has scored a positively overwhelming hit. This play, which is by George Scarborough, at one time a newspaper man and more recently a member of the Federal Secret Service force, depicts the horrors of the White Slave traffic with powerful dramatic effect and with absolute tremendous sincerity. It is safe to say that all the articles, exposures and novels published will sink into insignificance beside this drama in the good work of putting an end to this most nefarious and unspeakable of all trades.

Among the people in the audience on the opening night were District Attorney Whitman, Judge Warren W. Foster and former Police Commissioner General Bingham. After the performance Mr. Whitman said that he considered "The Lure" one of the most excellent plays he had ever witnessed and that he found nothing objectionable in it. Judge Foster said: "It is a most powerful play. Everybody in New York should see it. It does not go beyond the proper lines." General Bingham said: "It teaches a wonderful moral lesson. I know that these conditions are true, and so does everyone ever engaged in this game. How much longer will New Yorkers stand for this White Slave trade? The play should be seen by everybody."

The critics of leading metropolitan newspapers were unanimous in the opinion that the play is a dramatic sensation and that its honesty of purpose is above question. A few quotations follow:

"Grim power. Exhilarating climax. Acting excellent."—Times. "What a play with essential truth. Many future nights of prosperity."—World.

"Many thrills. One of the most sensational dramas ever staged in New York, more daring than 'The Basest Way' and more thrilling in some details than 'Within the Law'."—American.

"Registered a punch that developed into a knockout."—Press.

"Stirs audience deeply."—Herald.

"Play with purpose."—Sun.

"Strong and absorbing drama."—Evening Journal.

"The Lure Scores a sensational hit."—Evening Sun.

"When Dreams Come True" at the Lyric.

The first musical comedy of the season is "When Dreams Come True," to be produced this evening at the Lyric Theatre, with Joseph Santley as its star player and May Vokes in the principal comedy role. This piece was written by Philip Bartholomae, the author of "Over Night," "Little Miss Brown" and "Kiss Me Quick" and the score was composed by Silvio Helt. "When Dreams Come True," designated by its author "a musical comedy of youth," has been running since last Easter in Chicago, where it appealed with special force to the feminine public, necessitating a long series of extra Thursday matinees.

The central figure in Mr. Bartholomae's story is a young New Yorker who has aroused his father's ire by an escapade with a dancer in Paris, resulting in the cutting off of his supplies. Thus, after pawning most of his belongings, young Kean Hedges is disclosed to the audience upon the steering deck of an ocean liner bound for New York. Naturally, he is rather wretched and lonely in such surroundings, and when he catches a fleeting glimpse of a beautiful girl up on the first-class deck, he believes the vision to be purely imaginary. But on shore he forms the acquaintance of the girl herself, who is being made use of by a party of adventurers to smuggle a fabulously valuable pearl necklace into the country.

Just as the Customs detectives are about to arrest the girl upon a wharf alongside which the steamship is tied up, Hedges manages to turn off the electric lights, telling her to jump into his waiting automobile and "go home." She conveys this order to the chauffeur, who drives to the Hedges home and lets her in. The members of the family have retired, and Beth (this is the girl's name) enters the first vacant room she can find, and goes peacefully to sleep. Kean arrives home in the morning after having been pursued all night by the officers, and is horrified to find that his bedroom has been occupied by his "dream girl." He sets about the task of getting her out of the house without letting his relatives see her, but they discover her presence and assume that she is Kean's country cousin, who is expected to arrive upon a visit. At this juncture the country cousin herself is projected into the complications and matters become very much involved.

In addition to Mr. Santley and Miss Vokes, the company includes Marie Flynn, Anna Wheeler, Amelia Summerville, Anna Moore, Donald MacDonald, Edward Gavin, Fraser Coulter and Samoff, a young violinist.

"The Family Cupboard" at the Playhouse.

"The Family Cupboard," by Owen Davis, will be the second production to be offered by William A. Brady, Ltd., this season. Its opening will take place next Thursday evening at the Playhouse, inaugurating for that theatre its third season. The play will be presented first at Long Branch tonight, and at Midfield Tuesday. The cast includes William Morris, Irene Fenwick, Porrett Winnant, Alice Brady, Olive Harper, Thomas, Frank Hatch, Franklin Ardell, Ruth Benson, Douglas J. Wood, Alice Lindahl, Harry Redding and Irene Romaine.

"Believe Me, Xanthippe" at the 39th Street Theatre.

The first William A. Brady, Ltd. play for this season will open tomorrow evening at the 39th Street Theatre when, by arrangement with John Craig, this management will offer "Believe Me, Xanthippe," a comedy of thrills and laughter. The play comprises four acts, the action moving from a New York bachelor apartment to a hunting cabin in the Rocky Mountains. The cast is headed by John Barrymore and Mary Young, and includes Theodore, Roberts, Frank Canepau, Katherine Harris, Henry Hull, Alonzo Price, Alberto Roberts, Alpha Byers and M. Tella Webb.

Gaby Deslys is coming back to America in November in time, she writes to eat a real New England Thanksgiving dinner, and she has asked that her tour be offered until after the holiday. By the "France," sailing Brady's Forty-Eighth Street Theatre beginning early in September. In the last week, went a crate of Vermont turkeys. They are going to Gaby in order that her chef may practice on the amateurs.

May de Sousa Back Under Shubert Management.

May de Sousa, who is to play the leading feminine role in the production of "Lieber Augustine" which is to be the opening attraction at the Casino Theatre, is now returning to Shubert management after a lapse of ten years. For the last few seasons, Miss de Sousa has attained most of her success in England and, although she is a Chicago girl, she is better known on the other side of the Atlantic than at home. Miss de Sousa's first engagements under the direction of the Messrs. Shubert were in "The Runaways" and "The Chinese Honey-moon," both of which were before her cast are Helen Lowell, Louise Drew, Sadie Harris, Laura Laird, Emily Gallaway, Mary Hastings, Arthur Aylesworth, Robert Kelly, Frederic Santley, Richard Taber and others. The play will remain in Boston until the end of August, subsequently being played in the principal New England cities.

ACTIVITIES AT THE PLAYGROUNDS

The playgrounds are well patronized on the warm days as well as the cool days, although the activities do not assume such a strenuous character. The past few days being cooler than the latter part of last week the various pieces of apparatus have been busy the greater part of the time. The children are realizing that there are but a few weeks left before school opens are striving to finish their several pieces of work which they have started. In view of this fact also the cool weather the playgrounds present a very busy appearance.

The tennis courts are busy every day from early in the morning until late at night with many on the waiting list. Children are encouraged to use the courts during the forenoon and early afternoon allowing the older brothers and sisters to use them during the late afternoon and evening. The courts are reserved after five o'clock for those who work during the day and at all times those using the courts are requested to play but one set while others are waiting.

It has been the ideal this year to interest the children in the various sports and activities for the enjoyment and benefit obtained therefrom. Those who develop a sound body and a sound mind in that body have a greater opportunity to succeed than those who do not.

The playground is one of the greatest factors in training our youth for future citizenship. Here they are taught industry, honesty and fair play for every one. Those who enter into the games with vim and zeal secure the best results and enjoy them the most. With this habit established early in life, they are sure of success in whatever they undertake in the future if they will but hold fast to this habit.

The sports for the younger boys yesterday afternoon brought out the largest number of contestants thus far this season. They are making good marks in the events contested for and are awaiting an interest amongst the older boys. The first of the week a number of the older boys were clearing better than four feet six in the high jump with one or two nearing the five foot mark. With a little practice these marks should be improved.

The events contested Wednesday afternoon by the younger boys were: Class A Standing broad jump, Ridge first, 5 ft. 9 1/2 in. Perry second and Champagne third.

Running broad jump, Champagne first; Perry second, and Ridge third. Distance 10 ft. 3 1/2 in.

Three standing broad jump, Ridge first; King second, and Champagne third. Distance 17 ft. 5 1/2 in.

Running high jump, Perry first, Ridge second, and Champagne third. Height 3 ft. 7 1/2 in.

Pole climb, Ridge first, O'Leary second, and Kennedy third. Time 3 3/5 seconds.

Dash, Perry first, O'Leary second, Barlett third. Time 23 3/5 seconds.

Class B—Standing broad jump, McIntire first, Adams second, Distance 4 ft. 6 in.

Running broad jump, McIntire met, Adams second, Distance 7 ft. 5 in.

Three standing broad, McIntire first, Adams second, Distance 10 ft. 3 1/2 in.

Dash, Davidson first, McIntire second, Time 33 seconds.

Pole climb, Davidson first, McIntire second, Time 20 3/5 seconds.

The sports for the younger boys will be held again Friday afternoon of this week at three o'clock.

The Railroad That Elliott Leaves.

There is interest in this part of the country in the recently published report of the Northern Pacific railway for the last fiscal year—the road of which the president is Howard Elliott, who is to become the head of the New Haven system in a few weeks. That great western road has had an exceedingly prosperous year. Its gross operating revenue for the year was $72,676,000, an increase of $9,250,000 over the year before. Its surplus for the year over its dividend needs was nearly $7,000,000. Of the increased revenues all but about $3,000,000 went into the permanent betterment of the property. For example, one hundred obsolete engines were discarded and replaced by the most modern type that is built.

In the ten years since Mr. Elliott became president of this great system, its miles of track, not including its subordinated and affiliated roads, have increased from 7433 to 10,615, and the gross earnings have increased from $46,112,000 to $72,676,000, in spite of the building of new lines and the subdivision of business in the territory formerly occupied by the Northern Pacific alone. This record of achievement speaks eloquently of the business capacity of the man who has been at the head of the affairs of the Northern Pacific during the past decade. The genuine regret with which the patrons of the Northern Pacific, as well as the officials and employees of the road, part with Mr. Elliott as he leaves the Northwest for New England also speaks eloquently of his personal characteristics and his success as a leader. Let New England see that he has fair play in the great work that he is to undertake here.—Boston Herald.

Hollis Makes Misstatements.

In a recent speech in the United States Senate, Henry F. Hollis, the junior senator from this state, told how the working people of New England were living in "reeking tenements," and that owing to the fact that the women were compelled to work they were "sickly" and their children were "puny," and that the death rate was the highest in any part of the country.

Do the facts bear out his statements?

That they do not, cannot be better illustrated than by quoting the death rates of seventy-five cities located in all sections of the country east of the Mississippi river. The rates are taken from the mortality statistics published by the census bureau of the department of commerce and labor for the year 1910. That Senator Hollis misrepresented and maligned the actual conditions of the working people in regard to their physical conditions, as well as to their industrial and financial status, is most effectually proven and it goes further to prove the falsity and unreliability of his utterances in the Senate, in which he so basely misrepresented conditions in his home state, as well as other sections of industrial New England.

Had a Republican Senator Been Chosen.

The death of Senator Johnston of Alabama reduces the majority in favor of the tariff bill to just one, according to the estimates of leaders. Had a republican senator been chosen in place of Henry F. Hollis from New Hampshire, the majority would have been the other way. There ought to be food for thought in this fact for those in New Hampshire who favor the protective tariff.—Rochester Courier.

Still Another Chance.

The sober thinking members of the republican party of Massachusetts have repudiated Gov. Eugene Noble Foss, who aspired for the republican nomination in the primaries, as was generally expected they would do. The only chance Governor Foss now has is on the prohibition ticket and it is expected that he will soon proclaim himself an exponent of the grape juice theory.

OUR FRIGID SUN

Compared with some other stars our sun is rather cool. Recent measurements that there is at least one star with a temperature eight times as great. In fact our sun ranks low, among the brilliant stars. Yet the heat given off the sun hourly has been reckoned as being equal to burning a layer of coal twenty feet thick over the sun's entire surface, making our coal trust seem like a puny affair and the proposition about a fair with pinching a baby. Measurements made in Germany are described in Cosmos by a writer who tells us that Dr. Rosenberg of the Osterberg observatory at Potsdam, Wurttemberg studied photographically from 1897 to 1899, the spectra of the seventy most brilliant stars of the northern hemisphere whose brightness is between the first and third magnitudes to determine how differences of intensities are distributed in their spectra. By systematic comparison with the spectrum of the sun, he has deduced the relative temperatures of these stars. According to these investigations, the hottest star among those considered in Gamma of the constellation Pegasus, of the magnitude of 2.87 according to the Harvard photographic classification, whose temperature reaches the astonishing figure of 460,000 degrees Centigrade, and the coldest is Alpha Centauri or Alderamin (magnitude 1.06) with only 2180 degrees, a temperature lower than may be reached in our terrestrial laboratories.

Harry K. Thaw, Who Escaped From Asylum, and His Wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, Who Feared Attack.

Photos copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

After Harry K. Thaw's sensational escape from the Mattewan asylum in New York state, where he had spent two and a half years, news were felt for the safety of his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. The belief was expressed that Harry Thaw might attempt to take her life, and she was guarded by police in New York city, where she was physically in custody. It was claimed that Thaw's escape in an automobile from Mattewan to another state protected him from being brought back, as he was in the position of being insane in New York, but sane in any other state. Latest pictures of Thaw and his wife are here shown, the one of Mrs. Thaw having been taken recently upon her arrival from Europe. A general view of Mattewan asylum is also shown.

lower end of the scale we find a dozen stellar bodies whose temperature is only equal to, or lower than that of the electric arc.

The lowest temperatures obtained by Dr. Rosenberg agreed perfectly with those determined by Wilsing and Semmler of Potsdam observatory, but the highest exceed greatly the measurements of these two astronomers. It seems clear that the highest temperatures correspond to stars containing helium, and to these whose spectra are striped with brilliant hydrogen lines.

It should be added that on this scale the sun, whose spectrum has served as a basis of investigation and comparison for these calculations, occupies a place near that of Cybele with a temperature of 1850 degrees. Lately Digest.

FEDERAL RIFLES SEIZED

El Paso, Tex., August 20—A party of Mexican Federal soldiers, in uniform, surrounded rifles bought in El Paso, across the Rio Grande, two miles west of Juarez, were surprised last night by United States soldiers and deputy sheriffs and two cases of the guns were captured by the Americans. Army officers say the Federals have smuggled quantities of rifles and ammunition since Friday.

CURRENT OPINION

NEW ENGLAND SHOULD LEND A HAND.

No board of directors and no railroad executive can conserve railroad service without being prudent and fair themselves, and without fair and reasonable treatment and support of the press and of the traveling and shipping public, and the great army of owners and employees. Unless all these classes are fair, sensible, without prejudice, patient and helpful each to the other, the best results, and the results that the public desires, cannot be obtained.

It has been my good fortune to have close and friendly relations with the communities served by the railroads with which I have worked, and with the officers and employees of those roads.

So far as I have the strength—moral, mental and physical—I shall work to have the same kind of relations between the New England lines and the governing bodies, the public, the press, the employees, and the owners.

Every owner can do something in his own circle to understand the situation himself, and to help to create a friendly feeling and to give business to the company.

Every officer and employee can do a little more each day to make certain that he is wasting neither the company's time, nor its material, and that he is making the best and most effective use of the company's plant.

Every one with a real interest in the future of New England can do something to help by discussing calmly those failures and errors that are incident to a complicated piece of machinery, that is not yet completed, and that is operated by many thousands of men.

Criticism is expected, and fair criticism does good. Unfair attacks waste the mental energy of the officers and break down the esprit-de-corps of the army of employees.

This complicated situation demands the best effort and spirit of every officer and employee for every waking hour, in order to produce that service which the public asks for, and should have if money can be obtained with which to produce it. And the rights of the owners must be respected and not lost sight of if the new money is to be obtained to make of the New England lines what the owners and what the traveling public and the shippers want them to be—a comprehensive and effective transportation machine.

Is it not a good time to act upon two of the maxims of Edward Everett Hale, that grand old New Englander: "Look forward and not back," and "Lend a hand?"

I believe that it is and that all should put animosities and prejudices behind them, sink self-interest, be willing to practice some self-denial, and work loyally to help the advancement of a greater New England, and her interests, of which her railroads are a most essential part.

I believe most thoroughly in the fundamental strength of the New England properties, in their ultimate ability to furnish the transportation needed by New England, and in the fact that good sense and fair judgment of the public. And I believe that the problems now presented to the management and to the public can, must, and will be solved.—Howard Elliott, the next head of the New Haven Railroad System.

FIGHTING TO EVADE DEPORTATION

and continue his journey through Quebec and Ontario to the state of Michigan, will not serve that purpose, if the information of the immigration officials is correct. Though they have not yet been shown the ticket by Thaw, they have learned that it was purchased in Coalbrook and reads from that point. It is not therefore from one American station to another through Canada, and it is not qualified for transportation.

Thaw's legal fight against deportation to the United States after his dramatic escape from the Mattewan state hospital for the criminal insane on Sunday morning last, will begin in the open in this Canadian frontier town tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. He is to be produced then before Judge Glenside of the superior court on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by his counsel this afternoon. If the writ is sustained he will be a free man. But for how long he will be free is problematical. Dominion immigration authorities, watching every move in the case announced tonight that they stand ready to detain him, should he be released and then to take steps to thrust him back across the border as an undesirable alien, either at the New Hampshire line where he entered the Dominion or at some point in New York state.

Facing such a station Stanford White's erratic lawyer, ordinarily Jockulous has shut his lips tight and for once in his life has refused to be interviewed. He has talked vaguely of matters not appertaining to his escape, but not one word has come from him regarding his flight from Mattewan, or of the inception of the plot that led to his delivery, or of the five men who spirited him away.

Jail One Accomplice

Of these five men one is believed to be in jail in Sherbrooke. He gave the name of Mitchell Thompson, and insisted that he was a resident of Toronto. But both Sheriff Thornbeck and District Atty. Conger of Duchesne County, N. Y., who looked him over today, say he was none other than Gentleman Roger Thompson, late of New York City, and reputed chauffeur of the black automobile that whirled Thaw from Mattewan at more than 40 miles an hour.

Thompson was hiding in the supreme court room, waiting for the Thaw case to come up when the immigration officers arrested him. He was quickly identified as one of the two men with Thaw when he was arrested near Coaticook yesterday. He denied that he had aided Thaw in crossing the border and maintained that he had met the fugitive by chance. Notwithstanding his protestations of innocence, he was held in $500 bail for a hearing on Friday. Unable to furnish the bond he was remanded to jail. Technically he is charged with aiding and abetting a lunatic to cross the Canadian border and offense punishable with a $500 fine.

If the authorities fail to hold him on this charge, Dist Atty Conger will seek his extradition on a warrant charging Roger Thompson with conspiring with others to defeat the ends of justice in liberating Thaw.

The warrant is here already, but will not be pressed until the immigration law violation has been tested.

Thompson's defense it is understood will emphasize (provided he admits coming across the border with Thaw) the contention that Thaw has not been found insane in Canada and that assisting him to enter, was therefore, not a violation of the law. In this way the question of Thaw's sanity will be involved in the procedure separate from his own case.

Thompson's arrest in the court room today was unnoticed by the casual spectators. The prisoner dodged the camera signal while being removed to jail. Shielding his face with a handkerchief he broke into a run, greatly to the alarm of the aged deputy who had him in charge, and stopped only when bystanders began a hue and cry. Then still holding the handkerchief over his face, he went quickly to jail and was lodged in a cell not far from Thaw.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM.

Guests at Ocean Wave House
Entertained on Wednesday Evening.

The guests of the Ocean Wave House, Rye North Beach on Wednesday were treated to an entertainment which was considered the best and most enjoyable ever given at this well known summer hotel. Every number on the program was a gem.

Leon Baldwin, tenor; C. L. Hammond, baritone; Miss Wilkinson, contralto in fine selections, and the Misses Mahoney, violin and piano produced the feature work of the evening. Miss Mary Carey of this city in her readings delighted the large audience and was obliged to appear several times to the deserved encore she received.

Mrs. Smith and Miss Dunlap in piano duets added much to the enjoyable occasion by several beautiful selections which they rendered with much merit.

The affair was in charge of Mr. Hammond and he received many compliments for the arrangements so perfectly as well as for his work as a vocalist.

Clarence Mason of Beverly, Mass., was a visitor here on Wednesday.

IN WHITE SLAVERY CASE

and promises of marriage on the other, Diggs willingly testified to his own misconduct and the entanglements, domestic and business, into which it had led him.

His counsel, in summing up the evidence, did not palliate these acts.

"Plead this defendant as you will—a monster if you please," argued Robert Devlin, his senior attorney, "but tell me what motive he would have had in going out of the state for the purpose of accomplishing these things already accomplished."

"Counsel may characterize him as they please, and I may not differ with them. They say his act was shameless, and I may feel the same way about it, but it isn't white slavery."

This was the whole argument. As it was the contention of the defense that no criminality of any purpose had been proved the interpretation of the statute by the judge was awaited with much interest.

The defense took exception to the charge in general and to specific instructions.

After retiring the jury deliberated only a few minutes when adjournment for dinner was taken. Discussion of the evidence was resumed shortly after 3 o'clock.

STEAMER HAD
NARROW ESCAPEMaine Craft That Hit Rock in Fog Has Large Hole
in Hull.

Rockland, Me., Aug. 20.—When the Maine Central railroad passenger steamer Pennaquin, which plies between Sargentville and Rockland and carries many wealthy summer people, was launched out on the marine railway today, startling evidences were revealed of the narrow escape she had from foundering when she struck on Haycock spindle, near Eastern Mark island, Monday. One of the iron plates under the forward gangway contained a hole the size of a man's head and other plates were so twisted and bent that it will be necessary to replace five of them.

The Pennaquin was returning from her first trip after being equipped with a new propeller to replace one that was lately broken in striking a rock. In a dense fog she was creeping along at a five-mile speed when the watchman sighted Haycock spindle. Before the engines could be reversed the steamer's starboard bow fetched up on a sharp rock and she bounded out of the water forward. When she settled the rock penetrated one of the plates 10 feet aft of where she had struck.

The steamer came off with little difficulty and Capt. Bert Dickinson headed her for the nearest port, which was Stonington, a run of 25 minutes. With all pumps working the water still gained. A stop was made at North Haven, and when Rockland was reached, five hours later, there was four feet of water in the hold. Had the extent of the damage been known, the steamer would have been beached immediately. There were about 25 passengers aboard.

GOVERNOR FELKER WOULD SURRENDER THAW

New Hampshire Don't Want Him, Said the Governor--May Not Have Power to Surrender Him.

Rochester, Aug. 20.—New Hampshire does not want Harry K. Thaw within its boundaries. In the event he re-enters the state through deportation proceedings in Canada and legal justification can be found for the act, he will be surrendered to the New York authorities. This declaration was made today by Governor Samuel D. Felker, Attorney General James P. Tuttle, in support of this attitude, says the matter of extradition is wholly in the control of the executive.

Governor Felker said that he believed in law and order and held the opinion that Thaw could be extradited on the charge of conspiracy that has been made by the authorities of the Matruwan insane asylum and which is based on the fugitive's successful plot to escape.

The governor was not quite sure of the law as he has not had opportunity to examine it closely, but he made it plain that there would be no quibbling. In a formal statement made after a general discussion of the possibility that Thaw would be returned to this state as the nearest point in the United States to the place of detention at Sherbrooke, Que., and also because he crossed the line from New Hampshire the governor said:

"We favor law and order and the return of persons. In the event that Harry Thaw is deported from Canada into New Hampshire he will be turned over to the proper authorities. I have not had an opportunity to look into the matter yet but it is my opinion that he can be extradited on the conspiracy charge, which I understand has been made against him. Certainly we don't want him here. If Thaw is brought into this state and the New York authorities present papers in proper form to permit extradition, Thaw will be given into their charge."

Governor Felker said at his home here today and Attorney General James P. Tuttle is in Manchester where he lives, but it is understood they have been in communication regarding the Thaw case. In a statement received here today Mr. Tuttle said:

THAW BEGINS HIS FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 20.—Harry K. Thaw, fugitive slayer of Clifford White, caught by a New Hampshire sheriff after his sensational escape from the Matruwan, N. Y. state hospital for the criminal insane, spent the night in the hospital ward in the jail of this little border town and this morning on the urgent telegraphic demands of his family, retained new counsel to fight deportation to the United States. George Landen Carnegie, his brother-in-law, who during the night that he was hurrying here with Thaw's sister, Margaret and cautioned Thaw to delay all proceedings if possible, pending his arrival. Meanwhile, Charles D. White, recommended to the Thaw family as Sherbrooke's most able lawyer, has taken charge of the case and Thaw's arraignment before a commissioner this afternoon was expected to ask for adjournment of the proceedings.

An army of old acquaintances, as it were, newspaper men, who reported the Thaw murder trials in New York clamored about Thaw's prison cell today. One glance was enough. It was Harry Thaw. Thaw-like, he had demanded special bedding on his cot; Thaw-like he talked of statements he purposed to issue, though for the time he declined to be interviewed. He said briefly that he had slept well.

The question of insanity was not embodied in the commitment which brings Thaw before the immigration authorities here. He is held merely as a fugitive from the "penitentiary at Matruwan" where he was confined on "a criminal charge" for life. Thaw himself was quick to see the chances for fighting deportation on such grounds for at Matruwan he was charged with nothing, being held as a lunatic acquitted of White's murder. Along such lines it was expected his lawyers would seek to bar deportation to New York state.

The immigration officials it was said were aware of this loophole in the commitment and were considering the advisability of changing the charge. However, should they deport him simply as an undesirable alien—a lunatic—it might mean his entering the United States via some state other than New York and this would involve protracted extradition proceedings within that state, the outcome of which would be doubtful.

Since his arrival here Thaw money has poured into Sherbrooke and an attempt has already been tentatively engaged. Thaw would welcome any foot of his family, it is said, as indicated last night, in his statement, quoting William Traversa Jordan, former district attorney of New York, to the effect that he (Thaw) was a sane man.

The hospital cell in which Thaw is confined is a roomy apartment within the jail building. It is carefully protected by barred windows and iron doors and is sixty feet from the ground. Two guards remained with him all night.

Thaw had only a few cents in his pocket when arrested yesterday and was without funds when he wanted to purchase fresh linen this morning. He was flustered about his personal appearance, and after a barber had shaved off four days' growth of beard he said he would like to have a new necktie. He was given money to supply a need, and after brushing the dust of at least four states and of Canada from his clothes, he said he was ready to appear in court at any time.

THE PINK LADY
One of the most successful musical plays of recent years has been "The Pink Lady" which is to be presented at the Portsmouth Theatre Monday, August 25, by John C. Fisher of Philadelphia fame, and B. D. Stevens, two of the best known of New York theatrical managers. The "Pink Lady" was taken from a French farce called "La Satyre," and was made into a musical comedy by C. M. S. McCallan, who provided the books and lyrics, with music by the well known English composer, Ivan Caryll. In New York it has a very successful run at the New Amsterdam Theatre, where it was given for an entire season. It was then taken to London and made a big hit in the British metropolis at the Globe Theatre.

To big receipts The Pink Lady is no stranger, and it is quite safe to say that no musical play within a decade has been so well received by audiences on both sides of the Atlantic.

The story of The Pink Lady is concerned with the adventures of a young Parisian rounder who is about to settle down into the hum-drum life of a married man and who just before his marriage decides to take just one more dip into the gay life of Paris. He arranges to have a last luncheon with a lot of the theatre who is known as The Pink Lady, and whom he arranged to meet at a quiet restaurant in the forest of Compeigne.

In attempting to deceive his bride to be, he tells her that he has a successful appointment with a friend, to whom he gives the fictitious name of Dondidier. On his arrival at the restaurant he meets The Pink Lady, but is surprised there by his sweetheart who has come with an automobile party expressly to see if he had been telling the truth. The young bride is extricated from his dilemma when The Pink Lady declares herself to be the wife of Dondidier who has come hither to tell her that her husband is ill and cannot keep his appointment. To the dismay of the young man he discovers that there really is a Dondidier in Paris a respectable old man, dealer in antiques and The Pink Lady inadvertently gives the true address.

Fearing that the young girl will appear there the young man hastens to Paris to arrange with the old merchant to keep up the deception. This of course, at first is objected to, but the dealer finally consents when he is promised a rare snuff box for which he has long been in search. The young girl does appear on the scene, meets the dealer in antique and though she is convinced of her lover's innocence she succeeds in getting the venerable merchant into trouble with his own wife.

Finally, after numerous complications, matters are straightened out and all is forgiven. The young woman leaves her lover to be much maligned. Dondidier's wife forgives him, while Claudine, The Pink Lady, returns to the theatre.

There are many numbers in this musical play which have become justly famous, among them being "I'm Going to be Married in June," "The Rag Waltz," "When Love Goes Straying," "The Girl by the Scholichewann," "Dumpty Doo, Dumpty Doo," "Hill and Hook" and of course the one number that has been heard every place, the waltz song "Beautiful Lady."

Monroe Fisher and Stevens have provided an excellent company for The Pink Lady among the principals being Olga DeBaugh, Georgia Harvey, James McSherry, Olga von Hotel, Louise Kay, Abbott Adams, Mortimer Meyer, Charles J. Hines, Russell Landon, Alfred Terry, Alice Moffatt, Jack Ryan, Lucie Carter, Jack Hall. There is a large chorus and the organization as a whole is one of the largest that is travelling.

HANANS TO SAIL WITHOUT JEWELS

Narragansett Pier, August 19.—Debaugh that nothing will be heard from her stolen jewels, for many months at least, Mrs. John N. Hanan prepared today to close shore access, her summer home and go to Europe. While she still hopes for the return of the jewelry, estimated to be worth $100,000 she shares the belief of the head of the detective agency who has the case that it will probably be more than a year before trace of them can be found. It is the detective's theory that the thief will not attempt to pawn the valuables until interest in the mysterious robbery has subsided. Mrs. Hanan will accompany her husband whom physicians have advised to go abroad for his health. They will sail from New York on Saturday.

GUARD FOR KING MANUEL

Signaringen, Germany, August 20.—Extensive police precautions have been taken by the Signaringen authorities on account of the presence here of ex-King Manuel of Portugal, who is to marry Princess Augusta Victoria, daughter of Prince Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, in September. All strangers are placed under strict surveillance, possibly on account of the fears held by the police that an attack may be made on the ex-Portuguese ruler.

Post Toasties

Are mighty handy to have in the house as well as mighty good to eat direct from the package with cream.

Besides being the most delicious ready cooked cereal food made of corn these crisp, crinkly flakes serve many another useful purpose in home cooking.

Rolled into crumbs and used as an outer dressing for breaded veal, lamb, chicken, pork or ham; they give a zest to the 'fry' that makes the home folks ask for more.

Softened with milk and used with usual spicing and fixing as an inside dressing for baked fish or fowl they impart a delicate flavor to the finished dish, reminding of the chestnut fillings that cast a halo around the days of old-time cooking.

Post Toasties are sold by Grocers everywhere—and everywhere folks who relish good things to eat, appreciate the delicate Indian Corn flavor that makes

THE TIMES RENEWS PLEA

Again Asks British Government To Participate in Panama Exposition

(Washington, August 20.—The Times once more laments the British government's decision not to participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco. The paper says it hopes and believes the exposition will be the striking success which its promoters intend and would like to see Great Britain and Germany take part in it. The Times continues:

"We do not despair of yet seeing our wish fulfilled. The decisions of governments in such matters are not as the laws of the Medes and Persians. It is annoying to be obliged to acknowledge a mistake but we credit the government with statesmanship enough not to persist in a blunder when it understands that a blunder has been made. Great Britain began by refusing to participate in the World's Fair at St. Louis but finally took an active part in it with excellent results.

The Times contends that the question is one in which feelings and sentiments are primarily concerned. It says: "President Moore of the exposition affirms that America keenly desires the official participation of Great Britain. Are we going to refuse anything which the Americans keenly desire for the sake of $1,250,000? What regard for our kinkfolk if we do? becomes of all our assurances of special interest worth $1,250,000 to save the Americans from thinking that we are boycotting the exposition because of the recent canal act? The Times insists moreover that Great Britain of all nations seems to have the most to gain by participating in the exhibition.

INTERESTING WEEK AT GREENACRE

Greenacre, August 19.—One of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences of the season, gathered under the Pines at 10:30 this morning to listen to the symposium upon "The Prospects for Greenacre."

Dr. Fillmore Moore, who presided, opened the meeting with the remark that while we did not see so many of the old faces at Greenacre now as formerly, he hoped the constructive work mapped out for the future would gradually bring them back again.

He then introduced Miss Mary Eastman, of Smith College, one of the two trustees of the Greenacre Fellowship, appointed by Miss Farmer, at the recent annual meeting of Aug. 11. Miss Eastman has a gentle, gracious personality which completely won all hearts as she proceeded to lay before the audience the plans for the upbuilding of Greenacre. She said she had recently talked with Miss Farmer and was able to bring Miss Farmer's own views to the audience.

Miss Eastman then said: "It is known to all of you that the conferences were established in 1894, many years before the Fellowship, which was organized as a sustaining body merely. It is an important point, I wish to make, calling to your attention the fact that the Greenacre conferences are distinct from the Greenacre Fellowship. Nothing which has been done this year has changed the condition of things. This is the first year since the Fellowship was established that it has not contributed to the support of the Greenacre Conferences, of Miss Farmer. The conferences this year have been sustained entirely by voluntary contributions as in the early days."

"It is possible thus to go on in this same way. Friends of Miss Farmer have been glad to go on with this work."

"In regard to the work for next year, the future promises well, we shall begin early and the program will be much better arranged. People are deeply interested in the spirit in which Miss Farmer would like the work carried on. When I saw Miss Farmer's calm, beautiful spirit, it seemed to promise a way out of the situation. If she is able to present there is no question that the work would go on as she established it. In the early days the conferences were broad and most inspiring. The Greenacre spirit which came from Miss Farmer's personality was the greatest thing."

"The formation of committees is going on as rapidly as possible in order to secure the best speakers for next year. The publicity committee is busy with the question of presenting rightly to the world what we are going to do. I have long hoped that work of a practical nature might be introduced here, for as Prof. James says, 'If you talk in, you must give out.' There must be some form of expression."

In closing Miss Eastman pointed to the tree under which the audience was sitting, and said, "The life of this magnificent tree, its spreading branches and its strength should be an inspiration in carrying on our work."

Before introducing the next speaker Dr. Moore quoted, "Not by power nor by might, but by my spirit," said the Lord," making it applicable to the future of Greenacre.

He then presented Madame DeBielski, who outlined a definite working plan for the carrying on of the future Greenacre activities, which had already been submitted to the board of trustees, appointed by Miss Farmer. This plan proposes to carry on the work under the title (which is being copyrighted) of "The Greenacre Conferences and Mosaic School of Sarah J. Farmer."

"The recent agitation," said Madame DeBielski, "has drawn from friends of Miss Farmer expressions of sympathy and offers of assistance; we are sure of ample funds and if Miss Farmer lives long enough she will see all her old ideals realized."

Dr. Moore then spoke briefly of the formation of the Fellowship. He said in referring to it: "An able corporation lawyer of Boston warned Miss Farmer at the time that her troubles would now begin, especially if money and property were involved. It was never formed to supplant the Greenacre Conferences nor to supplant Miss Farmer. If Mrs. Cole, one of the early friends of Miss Farmer, had not, with the best intentions possible, left a legacy to the Fellowship, there would not have been the recent contention."

"The Fellowship has done little but narrow the scope of the Conferences; it has been an incubator, and has done nothing of which we can be the least bit proud. The courts must now decide the questions involved, meanwhile we who have the privilege of representing Miss Farmer, must be as free as air, as open as the sunshine and as light as the spirit, the spirit quickeneth, the letter destroys." Now we are going to press forward to the ideals of Greenacre."

Mrs. Robert Seymour of Minneapolis was then introduced, who said: "Ideals I took away from Greenacre years ago have changed my life. There were five big ideas, and men of vision, with great personalities back of these ideas, who had been greatly misunderstood. One introduced me to my diaphragm saying 'I was dead in the middle' and taught me to love the out of doors; one, whom we called the secretary of the interior taught me to respect food and to eat to live, not live to eat."

"I want to live life in my body, in my friendships and in my citizenship, to live out life. Here people can get ideas, which they can work out in practical life."

It is very interesting to state that Mrs. Seymour has done heroic missionary work in many parts of the country, making these ideas manifest.

NATALIE R. WOODWARD.

NAMESAKES OF CITIES

There Are 11 Bostons in This Country Beside the Hub, but Only One New York.

One might naturally suppose that New York, for so many years the dominant city of the United States, would have some namesakes among the numerous towns which have come into being all over the country during the past half-century, but the fact is that there is not one town in all the United States named for New York, the daddy of them all, so to say. Maybe somebody can say why this is, but I cannot, though I am sure not a few New Yorkers have had a hand in starting new towns in various states. Our next-door neighbor, Philadelphia, as slow as she is alleged to be, beats us out for there are 812 Philadelphia scattered about, and Boston, grand old Boston, has 11 namesakes.

Even Brooklyn puts it all over New York, for there are 15 Brooklyns on the map, which shows that whatever New Yorkers may think of Brooklyn New Yorkers think of New York when they go away from their homes to start new ones.

San Francisco and New Orleans are no better represented than New York, while Chicago and Baltimore have only one namesake apiece, though to hear Chicago one would imagine that every other new town in the country had been named after her. Chicago has nothing whatever on St. Louis in the matter of accumulating namesakes—one, only one, each and the only equality that Chicago is bound to admit.

Pittsburg has as many namesakes as Boston, 11, but all of them combined haven't as much money as Pittsburg, and the same might be said of Boston's namesakes. In regard to names, though far be it from me to say it, Washington leads the list in the number of namesakes, 28, but it is not the capital so much as it is the immortal George, which carries in this case.

Cleveland is only one short of Washington, and why there should be 20 Clevelands in this country in addition to the one in Ohio I don't know. I fancy some of them were named in honor of President Cleveland, as every President gets at least one or two Postoffices named after him as a reminder of what he is to posterity. Cincinnati is a smoothly sailing name, and Cincinnati used to be quite a place, but it has only two namesakes, the same as Milwaukee, which is famous in other respects than in its namesakes.

Why cities with distinctive state names, as Minneapolis and Indianapolis, should have namesakes in other states is puzzling, but Indianapolis has one in North Carolina and one in Kansas, and Indianapolis has one in Oklahoma. Still, those three towns had better be named as they are than to be called North Carolinapolis, Kansaspolis and Oklahomapolis.

Looking over the list I find that there are 21 Columbiuses, all of them no doubt named in honor of the discoverer as Ohio's capital was. There are 22 Buffaloes, 16 Atlantas, 24 Richmonds, 15 Charlesons, 11 Detroit, 11 St. Pauls, 7 Omahas, 6 Providences and 7 Memphises, though all the Buffaloes, Richmonds and St. Pauls are not namesakes. All the Omahas but the first must be for what other reason would there be for naming a town Omaha? Of course, the Rhode Island Providence gave its name to the others, because in an independent country like ours no other Providence is recognized when it comes to starting a town.

Another matter of interest, not any more complimentary to New York than those mentioned, is that among the towns with "New" as part of their names there is still but one New York while there are three New Philadelphias, eight New Bostons, five New Albanys, four New Baltimores and three New Hackensacks. Of the foreigners there are 12 New Londons three New Paris, and still further away one New Rome and two New Athens.

SENATORS FORM

GOLF ASSOCIATION

Washington, August 19.—Golf has forced the more weighty problems of statesmanship temporarily out of the minds of senators. Rumors that leading and honest golfers of the House were crowding of their prowess on the Chevy-Chase and Columbia Club links led golfing senators today to perfect the Senate Golf Association, which will soon be ready for all comers.

Here is the roster of officers and directors of the new association as given out today:

Honorary president, Vice President: Marshall; honorary secretary, Senator Gallinger; president, Senator O'Gorman; vice president, Senator Senator Cummins; treasurer, Senator Lippitt; secretary, Senator Hitchcock; executive committee, Senators Pittman, Bristow, Townsend, Walsh and Randall; manager Senator Sutherland; captain of team, Senator Hottel.

Fisher and Stevens musical play in three acts, "The Pink Lady," which has created a furore in this country and London, is to be the attraction at the Portsmouth Theatre Monday evening, Aug. 25th. A great mail order demand and an enormous advance sale indicate that this sterling offering will establish a new record here in the matter of attendance. That it will be the light musical event of the season is thus early assured.

WOMEN ACTIVE IN ALBERTA COUNTRY

Calgary, Alberta, August 20.—For reaching political, moral and social reforms are being agitated for by the Local Council of Women of Calgary, and the organization proposes becoming a real power in municipal and provincial affairs.

The council has outlined a program of reforms for which it will press and these are now being considered by the affiliated women's clubs. One of the most important matters to be dealt with is the cause of defective children. The council will make representations to the government of Alberta with a view to procuring needed institutions, care and protection of these unfortunate. A home for helpless old people and destitute children will also be asked for.

One of the most important steps to be taken by the women will be the starting of a movement for the limitation of the franchise for men. At present any man of the age of 21 who is a British subject man vote. If he has resided in Canada for three years he may become a British subject not matter what his nationality. The Calgary Council of Women proposes to make it impossible for any man to vote who cannot read the English North American set in the English language.

Efforts will be made to secure the appointment of two women to the Calgary police force. The claim is made that women have made very successful members of the police force in other cities and that their presence here would be beneficial in a number of ways.

Early in September the women will begin their active campaign and expect to meet some measure of success this fall with the municipal part of their program because the Calgary city elections take place in November and the female vote at Calgary city elections is always a large one.

HAMPTON BEACH CASINO

Grand Opera Festival.

Commencing Monday, Aug. 25th and for the 25th there will be a two day carnival of Grand Opera by the stars of the Boston Opera Company. The first night will be "Cavalleria Rusticana" will be sung and on the second night the opera of "La Traviata." The company will include the well known singers Mme. Maria de Gabb, Mme. Gertrude Hutcheon, Mlle. Francis Woodman, M. Giovanni Gatti, M. Umberto Sacchetti, M. Heintze Gregory, Mlle. Ernestine Gauthier, Mlle. Paula Veranda, and several others. Besides the opera there will be a concert program by the leading members of the aggregation who will sing at each performance "Sextette from Lucia" Quartette from "Hilgolein" Prologue from "Pagliacci" Aria from "Sampson and Delilah" Aria from "Simon Boccanegra" Valse d'Arle "La Tosca" and the Toreador Song from "Carmen." The performances on both these nights will start promptly at 8 p. m. as the performances will run for two hours solid.

The reserved seats will be placed on sale commencing Monday, Aug. 18th at the souvenir stand of the Casino. All seats will be reserved by coupon, the prices have been regulated to suit every one for these grand opera there will be about 200 seats at 50 cents, 300 seats at 75 cents 100 at $1.00 and a few at $1.50 and $2.00.

Special car service will be added to reach all points before and after the performances.

CONTINUED GROWTH IN EXPORT TRADE.

Washington, Aug. 21.—July exports of breadstuffs, meats, cotton, and mineral oils show a large increase over those of the corresponding month of last year. The Monthly Bulletin of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, showing exports from the principal customs districts of breadstuffs, cottonseed oil, food animals, meat and dairy products, cotton, and mineral oils shows a total of 47 3-4 million dollars for July 1913, against 33 million in July, 1912. The chief increase occurs in wheat, of which the exports from the principal customs districts during July, 1913, were 9,307,745 bushels against 523,385 bushels in July of last year. These exports of wheat in July were larger than in July of any earlier year since 1901. Flour, also, shows a considerable increase, being $2,611,986 for July, 1913, against $2,616,922 for July, 1912. Meat and dairy products show an increase of about 2 1-2 million dollars over July of last year, cotton, an increase of 1 1-3 million dollars; mineral oils, an increase of nearly 1 million; while cottonseed oil and cattle and food animals show a slight decline. The total for the 6 groups of articles named—breadstuffs, cottonseed oil, food animals, meat and dairy products, cotton, and mineral oil—for July, 1913, is $47,739,815, against $32,992,614 in July of last year, and for the 7 months ending with July, $486,691,678 against $486,978,217 in the corresponding months of last year.

They Did Good Work.

Salvors from the ships at the yard and several of the marine guard did good work at the Market street fire on Wednesday. They were the first on the scene and gave the flames a lively battle in the rear of the building.

At the fire, Uncle Sam's box was right at home and the sounding of a fire alarm always starts them on the run to the scene. They know no fear when it comes to saving lives and property and their work on Wednesday night was praised by everybody who witnessed on both Penikese and Market streets.

Will Not Bend the Time

The custom of sending out the time clock at the yard wireless station has been discontinued. The same practice has also been abandoned at other stations of the government.

REMEMBER

"THE COOLEST PLACE IN TOWN"

REMEMBER

SPECIAL ATTRACTION for Monday and Tuesday: "QUO VADIS?" This is a three reel subject that is making success in the South and West. This story has been much more successful in the above territory than the long drawn out eight reel version of "Quo Vadis."

ENGINEERS WILL FIGHT NEW HAVEN

New Haven, August 20.—In accord with labor agreements the necessary 30 days notice before action has been served by the New Haven road upon the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen announcing that the company intends to abolish the seniority rule and the divisions of engineers into six grades.

Grand Chief Stone and W. S. Carter, national head of the firemen, were here within a week to inquire into conditions on the New Haven and Boston & Maine lines and it was decided to fight the proposed changes in the rules to a finish. This looks like trouble for the company.

Orderly Promotion

The engineers will make a determined fight for the retention of these rules which were obtained only after years of organized effort. The reason the engineers say that they give the effect of orderly promotion much similar to a civil service plan except that this is brought about by agreements between the unions and the company.

This is to be one of the biggest labor battles on the New Haven system in years as the seniority rule has been the most cherished of all the rules establishing the status quo of engineers and firemen.

They will not see it shoved into the hands of the company without a fight and it is not before allowing their seniority privileges to be taken away.

The rule establishing six grades among the engineers which is one of the ideas the company wishes to discontinue will cause as much fighting as a direct wage reduction would. The engineers and firemen look upon these two rules as essentials.
